BALTIMORE, 10; CLEVELAND, 1. CLEVELAND, July 11.—Nige thousand of the faithful saw the champions down the Clevelands this after noon in a same devoid of exciting incidents. Handon sprung an enigme in Hoffer, whose intricate western were too much for the epithers, who were the much of the pithers, who will be to see with Young's curves, and minerfaily fattened their batting averages off this usually invincible pitcher. The features were Doyle's batting and Jennings's sensational fielding. The record

The Riverside Wheelmen held their sixth annual race meet at the Manhattan Beach track resterday. Good weather and spirited racing made the meeting a success. The attendance was about 2,000. The races were confined to amateurs exclusively, every rider of prominence in the Metropolitan district taking part. Chairman Gideon of the League Racing Board officlated as referee, and was very exacting in his management. He maintained strict discipline by the golfers, will continue to serve in a among the riders by placing less time limits on all the races. Several men took nasty falls, the ance Company. Bay McDonald, the professional rider, made his first appearance at the track since his return from abroad yesterday. He rode an exhibition half mile, paced by H. P. Mosher and Charley Kinge. With a flying start he rode the distance in 58.3-5 seconds. He would have done better if Kinge had picked him up properly at the quarter pole.

Teddy Goodman, who holds the New York Kluge had picked him up properly at the quarter pole.

Teddy Goodman, who holds the New York State Championship, essayed to lower the one mile record with pacemakers, but his trial was not a success. Besides this, a lease of the links for five years has been obtained, and ground is to be broken next week for a club house. The President is John A. McCail, who, when not needed by the golfers, will continue to serve in a similar capacity for the New York Life Insurance Company. The Secretary is J. W. Albaugh, Jr., of Baltimore, who has been for some seasons a cottager at Norwood.

First and second prizes in the competition were won by J. C. McCall and Edward Simmons, but only on their handicaps. The best actual score was made by F. E. Henderson, 96—4—92, who tied for the third prize with J. Hrowning, another player who had the benefit of a long handicap. Mr. Albaugh, Jr., played from scratch, but did not hand in a card. The Handicapping Committee had a difficult task, for, as the ratings show, they had to bring together players of some ability with the veriest havices in the game.

The nine-hole course beting near the baseball field and is over a mile and a half in the round. There is one long hole of 350 yards, the other holes measuring about 200 yards from tee to patting green. All the broad, red clay reads of Norwcod are lined on each side with luxurant green hedges, clipped as square on top as a Saratoga troud, and there is a road and a double hedge crossing the line of play for each hole. It takes a full drive of 170 to 190 yards to clear these insarads, but, once over, a good from stroke will pitch the bail on the putting green, except on the long hole.

Throughout the entire links, except near the sizth hole, where the green is surrounded by stubble and rough grass, the turf is a close and smooth as on most putting greens. In this respect the course recalls the links at Newport, With turther practice the members should make the holes in much lower totals than were turned in yesterday.

A summary of the scores follows:

avenue, two miles from the business centre of this city. The course consists of six holes. The course was laid out by Tom Gourley, inconsidered very fine by those experts that have played over it. There are but two real bazarda, the hedge on the third and a potato paten along the right side of the second hole.

The play this afternoon was a feursome between A. F. Riach of Staten Island and R. Wilmer of the Baltusrol Club and Hugh K. Toler and E. H. Coffey, both of the Baltusrol. They made two rounds in creditable style before the hundred people that followed them. In the first round the teams tied, with three holes each, strokes also being equal, 39 each side. In the second round, Riach and Wilmer won, with four holes to two, and 35 strokes to 37. The scoring was as follows: considered very fine by those experts that have

PATERSON WINS AT GOLF.

First Team Match of the Season on the New Brunswick Links. New BRUNSWICK, July 11.—The Paterson Golf Club sent a team of four to meet the New Brunswick Golf Club quartet on the Livingston avenue links this afternoon. The visitors walked away from the local players, defeating them by eight holes.

The Paterson men beat their opponents uniformly in driving, while the home team was suformly in driving, while the home team was superior in iron play. Their familiarity, too, with the putting greens gave them an advantage, but not sufficient to overcome the Paterson men's skilled driving. The best score by strokes was that of A. H. Larkin of Paterson, which was 114. The New Brunswick golfers were handicapsed by the absence of W. R. Hill, who has made the round in 94. The summary:

Athletic Cracks of the Land o' Cakes Prove

Liberal patronage and capital sport signal-ized the annual track and field tourney for the championship of Scotland held at Powdernall Grounds, Edinburgh, on June 27. Only four of last year's holders defended their titles, and one of the quartet fell by the wayside. This paved the way for the introduction of a healthy new crop, and, aithough an adverse wind made very fast times impossible, the performances were well above the average throughout.

J. K. Ballantyne, a clubmate and cousin of Downer's, scored double trackets in the sprints, and similar honors fell to H. Welsh, who won both the half-mile and mile runs. Hill, another dual victor, turned up in the weight department, the reteran champion, J. D. McIntosh, winning the veteran champion, J. D. McIntosh, winning with both shot and hammer, making a new Scotch record in the former event. In the fourmie run R. A. Hay, who had taken the ten-mile honors earlier in the season, won comfortably. The high-jump championship was captured for the third successive year by C. Fenwick, with a leap of 5 feet 8 inches, and H. Barr. who had run second to Ballantyne in the sprints, won the broad jump with 22 feet 2 inches, a new Scottish record. Summary:

WELL-EQUIPPED BRITISH ROWERS. The Invading Professional Caremen and Their New Shells.

The English professional carsmen who reached this city on Friday night, en route to the aquatic carnival at Halifax, are singu-larly well equipped in the important matter of boats. The fleet includes three shells of the latest English pattern, and they will be objects of especial interest to American experts in view of recent developments at Henley, where it was shown to the satisfaction of the majority that the old country designers are still a trifle ahead when it comes to building effective shells and oars.

The four-cared shell built by Gus Brewer

The four-cared shell built by Gus Brewer weighs 105 pounds. It measures 42 feet in length, 19 inches in beam, and 8% inches in depth. It is not built to carry a coxswain, the rudder being connected with the stretcher of the bow man, who will do the steering. With regard to the pair-cared shell to be used by Barry and Bubear and the single shell intended for Barry, London Spaning Life of July 4 says:

"It is a splendid specimen of the boat-builder's art, and one of the finest boats of the kinlever built at Clasper's, which is saying a great deal, seeing that the firm holds the highest credentials for racing boats all over the world. Dimensions: Thirty-six feet long, beam 14½ inches, depth forward 4½ inches, aft 3½ inches, it contains fixed stretchers and dogs, and the seats slide on vulcanite rollers. The boat is also fitted with one of Clasper's patent aluminum countervalls. Out of compliment to the donor this boat was named John H. Clasper. The sculling boat, kindly presented by Mr. T. Cooke of Fulham, to Barry, was named Tom Cooke. Limensions: Length 31½ feet, amidships 10¾ inches, depth of stem 5¾ inches, stern 4½ inches; weight 23 nounds; builder, Swaddle."

"The American regatas at which the Englishmen will compete are: Halifax, Jul; 28 to 31; Belleville, Ontario, middle of August; Vancouver Bay, British Columbia, Aug. 29, 30, and 31.

A change at the eleventh hour has been made in the four, Mo Gibson taking the place of Emmett.

The crew is now composed as follows: Mo Gibson, 160; Barry, 158; Haines, 173; Bubear, 170.
